“ My condolences to all family and friends. Chris was always a good person. We grew up on the same street and were in the same class in school. I remember his sister babysitting me as a kid and I served on the drill team with his sister Kelly. I saw him on campus at TVCC. He helped me with some questions I had about enrollment and PTK. I'm going to miss Chris and remember him for the good person he will always be. Rest In Peace ❤️

“ Chris and I met in June 2018 as a friend. As time goes by i noticed the young buck is showing affection to me and asked me if we go on a date. Few months later, i said yes to him. Chris had so much respect for me that he ask my best-friend Michelle to introduce himself to her before getting into a relationship with me. Chris wanted to let my best-friend know that he is courting me or dating me. Of course my best-friend got know him very well. Chris and I have so much great stories to tell about our love life. If he can talk right now he will tell you how much we live each other. We travel together to Florida. (Pardon with my grammar here i am trying my best to share my memories with the love of my life whom he thought me how to be loved by a real man). Anyway, i remember how fun to be with him in the car ride. 🤗. "Oh honey how i miss you so much!" Chris loves to eat Adobo and Pancit cooked by me! Long story short, after travels, meeting his parents and brothers and sister, on June 5,2019 in front of over 100 people to ask my hand "Banessa will you MARRY me?" My heart almost jumped out of my chest because of my happiness. Of course to the love of my life, i said YES and gave him a hug and kisses like i never kissed him before. This young man had so many dreams after asking my hand. I never thought that he will ask me to marry him too soon. He wants 6 kids and move me to a dream house. He said when he graduates in college he will become a Teacher but his main goal is to become a Principal of the school. I miss you so much baby! 😭💔💔💔💔 you have no idea how much i miss your voice. I miss your morning messages lunch and dinner and before going to bed. I miss watching your movie with you on video calls even we are miles away. Too soon to be gone. I don't know what to do without you. I don't know when i can stop crying. I don't know how to carry on my love. 😭😭😭😭 my heart is broken i to pieces. I love you very much baby and i will always will. If i have a chance to re live my life here on earth i will be choosing you over and over to be my Partner forever! I love you and until we meet again. 😭❤️😭😭💔

“ Chris was my best friend through one of the worst times of my life. We road tripped home to Texas for leave. Was each other’s number one for karaoke. Watched the cowboys every Sunday with pitchers of coors light. We were roommates. We spent everyday single day together for almost two years. We drove they Taco Bell and any other fast food late together. We were two Texas kids stationed in a San Diego world. I miss my friend.

“ Chris was my student in 4th grade. He was one of the kindest people. He was a delight to teach and I was so happy he decided to become a teacher. God bless you all.

“ Chris was one of two gentlemen in my education courses last year. He loved to bring in life experience and 'what if's' to each class discussion: it made us all think in more realistic terms. His humor and goodness were contagious even if he took us off topic once in a while. I know he was a blessing to the students who were fortunate enough to have him in their classroom last fall. I was especially looking forward to his student teaching. Chris was so personable and authentic I will never forget him. My condolences to his family and loved ones. He spoke of future plans with such anticipating, my heart breaks for you all especially.
