“ I can't tell you exciting it was to be able to take you to your very first NBA game last year. I know you were loving you some Dallas Mavericks and the fact that you got to go down and high 5 them before the game made it even better. I am also glad I got to get you to your first college football game last year too! Thank God it was TCU instead of them dawgs! Jordan you will never know how much I loved you. I never told you enough but it's a whole bunch! I've known you since the day you were born. I've seen you struggle but always with a smile. I will miss your texts and your sweet posts on Facebook but mostly will miss you and your beautiful face. Please watch over your mother she is going to seed it. I love you sweet Angel. Fly high and run fast! I will see you again some day!

My sweet darling, Jordan. From the moment you were born, I knew you were special and that I had given my heart to you. I remember those great big belly laughs when you were less than a year old and how you loved to be on the floor with my boys, brushing their hair and making them do what you wanted them to do. It was never much of a contest though, because when you were in our home, you ruled the roost and those boys. I'm so glad I got to see you a few years ago, before you moved to TX. I've missed you so much and never stopped loving you. I hope I told you that enough. Rest peacefully, my sweet!

I believe God brings earthly Angels into our paths to show us what true love, honest friendship, integrity, and eternal devotion should look like. I know Jordan was an earthly angel and I can say she touched my heart and soul in ways that words cannot express.
