

Rose Ramming

November 13, 1939 - July 8, 2025

Rose Parisi Ramming passed away peacefully surrounded by her loved ones in the evening of June 30th, 2025. Born on November 13, 1939, Rose was the youngest daughter of her Italian immigrant parents, Joseph and Nellie Parisi. Greeting her in Heaven, Rose has been reunited with her parents, her beloved daughter, Rita Ramming Foust, and her dear sisters, Louise and Angela.

Rose was a sweet woman and a cozy soul. In her free time she loved to bake and cook classic Italian recipes. Rose found beauty in the small things, diligently collecting tea cup sets and observing the intricate details in each piece. Along with tea cups, her cats were also held very near and dear to her heart and provided a constant sense of companionship. Before retirement, Rose spent her working years assisting and serving people in a career of customer service. Rose was able to experience life with a new set of eyes every time she had moved to a different state. Life took Rose across the country—from her roots in New York to Texas, where she had started a new life with her husband in 1966.

Rose is now free in her able body up in heaven, peacefully watching over the family leading her legacy. Rose is survived by her sons, Michael Ramming and wife Teresa, and Anthony Ramming and wife Carol; her grandchildren, Zoey Mae, Michael J. II, and Vincent; her siblings, Joan LaPlante, Fred Parisi, and Louie Parisi; as well as other extended family members and friends that will carry her memory in their hearts.