“ You really weren't my aunt you were my sister as far as I can remember we were always together, we so close in age, until the last year's we grew apart. You use to get mad cause gma payed more attention to me at times, and for that you would pinch me one time you even burn me with the iron, but I still loved you sister. You lived 300 miles away from me when I told you, I had eloped with my husband and I was getting married in 5 days you rushed to be by my side I never forgot that. You were there when my first baby was born,my second and so on, and so on and the rest of them. All thru the years we were so close at one time that just looking at each other without saying a word we new what we were thinking, she would say that we could be across the room from each and we would looked at each other and knew what we were going to say, that's how close we were. She would always say that my husband was the only one that could put up with us when we were together, cause we could be crazy in a good way.. I'm going to miss you, no I'm already missing you, it was a very very sad day for me when I learned that you were gone, I felt like I was going crazy I didn't want to believe it but it was true. I just wish we would of never drifted apart like we did,that way I could of being by your side when you took your last breath. I love you sister until we meet again.. 🥰❤️❤️
